Skills developed in college

You have developed a range of skills through your education, work experience and personal interests and achievements. Understanding what skills you have to offer and like to use can help you understand what you want in a career, as well as providing key information for job or further study applications.

In terms of securing a job, academic qualifications alone will not guarantee success. Evidence-based skills sections on your CV can demonstrate the broad range of qualities you have to offer employers. Here are some of the main skills you may have developed while in college:

- Communication skills, both verbal and written
  Expressing ideas effectively and conveying information appropriately and accurately. Influencing others by expressing yourself in a group and in one to one situations. Showing a range of verbal and nonverbal signals to demonstrate that the information being received is understood. You have negotiated your way through complex communications on various projects you’ve participated in, from initial briefing, through to report writing and presenting to varied audiences.

- Teamwork / Working with Others
  Working effectively and confidently within a group to achieve a common goal or task. This means that you understand your role within the team, as well as listen and support the other team members. Teamwork skills are developed in group projects in college as well in sporting clubs and college societies.

- Problem-solving ability
  Identifying, prioritising and solving problems, individually or in groups; possessing the ability to ask the right questions, sort out the many facets of a problem, and contribute ideas, as well as answers. Having an eye for detail as well as the ability to adopt a common sense approach to solving problems under pressure has been something you’ve learned during your work.

- Time-management skills / ability to meet deadlines
  Managing several tasks at once; being able to set priorities and to allocate time efficiently in order to meet deadlines. You have juggled course deadlines and assignments with part-time work or involvement in extra-curricular activities. This demonstrates that you are organised and can manage your time. Complex construction projects require effective organisation and time management if they are to be delivered to budget and on time.

- Planning and Organising
  Establishing a course of action for self and/or others to accomplish a specific goal. Allocating resources appropriately.

- Leadership skills
  Motivating and taking responsibility to lead other people, in order to achieve set goals and objectives.

- Initiative & self-management
  Identifying opportunities and being proactive in putting forward ideas and potential solutions. Self-disciplined and self-motivated in the pursuit of studies and professional practice.

- Ability to make quick decisions / work under pressure (flexibility)
  Making decisions and taking action. Maintaining performance under pressure and/or opposition.

You may also have developed a wide range of technical/specific course related skills.

Careers open to all disciplines
(Including ‘Paths Into…’ Series)

Many graduate vacancies don’t require specific degree subjects as possession of a degree is taken as evidence of intellectual ability. What is more important to the potential employer is the range of transferable skills and experience you can demonstrate.

Many graduate training programmes take final year students from a wide range of disciplines, register with the Career Development Centre’s Jobsence for a full list of programmes. Here is a range of career areas that are potentially open to graduates of all disciplines. It’s important to note that some of these options may require further study either on the job or beforehand.

If you are considering diversifying or changing career direction a postgraduate conversion course may be a viable option.

Some examples of career areas open to students of all disciplines:

- Teaching & Education
- Financial Services & Accounting
- Marketing, Advertising and PR
- Retail, Sales and Customer Service
- Banking, insurance and financial services
- Charities and voluntary sector
- Fund management / administration and investment banking
- Human resources, recruitment and training
- Management consulting
- Management, business and administration
- Media and publishing
- Public sector and civil service
- Social, community and youth

For further information see: www.gradireland.com/career-sectors

Further Study

Are you considering further study or training? See www.tudublin.ie/careers for comprehensive information

Here are some examples of postgraduate courses pursued by Leisure Management Graduates:

- Alternative/Complementary Therapy Courses - Various
- Physiotherapy Courses – Undergraduate and Masters Degrees - Various: UK (e.g. Essex)
- Physical Education Teaching Courses - Various: Undergraduate - Ireland & and PCGE Teacher Training Courses – UK (e.g. Edge Hill, Sheffield Hallam)
- General Postgraduate Teaching Courses - Various: Ireland and UK

Conversion courses

Some graduates find that their primary degree did not meet their expectations, either vocationally, academically or personally, and seek change career direction. Conversion courses offer the opportunity to diversify into another chosen career area while meeting the necessary entry requirements for that discipline. However, it should be noted that this is not the case for all disciplines e.g. disciplines such as science and engineering will require an undergraduate degree in that discipline.
Self Employment

Ever thought of being your own boss? Think you have an innovative product or service idea that could have commercial value? Want to commercialise your research? See www.tudublin.ie/careers

Other Options (e.g. Time out, travel etc.)

Volunteering and working with communities with is a great way to gain valuable real world experience, to develop new skills, to meet new people, to do something worthwhile and to improve your employability. For more details, see www.tudublin.ie/careers.
